

Doing the Decades: Group Investigations in Twentieth Century U.S. History

From Concept to Completion

You've done quite a bit of work so far, and we still have a distance to travel to create your project. Now it's time to move towards your goal by developing ideas from your Questions for Investigation, Themes, and Topics into a manageable, achievable final product.

Name:		Decade:
Theme:		Project Mode of Expression:

I. State your Questions for Investigation:

1.

2.

3.

II. What type(s) of final products will effectively illustrate your answers to each Question for Investigation in the project? Place the number of the appropriate Question above next to the products below that you feel apply, and state in 1-2 sentences why that product might fit with that question and interest your audience.

Important: Each person in the group will be responsible for at least two products that will be represented in the final project.

Number	Product	Comments
	Series of letters
	Diary entries
	Daily journal
	News article
	Photo essay with descriptive captions
	Advertisements
	Editorial(s)
	Muckraking investigation
	Eyewitness account of event(s)
	Obituaries
	Advice column
	Travelogue
	“How to” article
	“Voice of the People” article
	Newsreel of major events
	Report from a foreign capitol
	News conference with elected official(s)
	Interview(s) with individual(s), famous or otherwise
	Guest columnist (perhaps famous person of the era)
	Other (your choice)	